Abstract:

The webinar is aimed at getting a peek into some aspects of advanced contemporary research in the field of Electronics and related areas through the words of our distinguished speakers, Prof. Debashis De and Dr. Shantanu Saha.

Prof. Debashis De will be speaking on 'Mobile Crowdsensing', a technique where a large group of individuals having mobile devices collectively share data and extract information to measure, map, analyse, estimate or predict any processes of common interest. Numerous technology companies like Facebook, Google and Uber use this technique to offer services based on the 'big data' collected.

Dr. Shantanu Saha will be speaking on his research pursuits in 'Quantum photonics', the science of generating, manipulating and detecting light in regimes where it is possible to coherently control individual quanta of light or photons. He will also share his experiences at the OPREL research lab at Ohio State University, USA, and discuss research opportunities for aspiring students.
